

Emergency Medical Responder (EMR) Examination Eligibility August 19, 2021

Note: This information only applies to Emergency Medical Responder (EMR) examinations for those who plan to practice in Alberta, Saskatchewan or Manitoba.

To be eligible to apply to write the Emergency Medical Responder (EMR) entry to practice examination you must meet the following criteria:

- 1) Intend to register/license/certify with the provincial paramedic regulator in Alberta, Saskatchewan or Manitoba.
- 2) Complete an Emergency Medical Responder (EMR) training program* recognized by the provincial paramedic regulator.
- 3) Meet the eligibility requirements set by the provincial paramedic regulator.

To review the approved training programs and eligibility requirements, review the information provided by the applicable provincial paramedic regulator:

- Alberta College of Paramedics
- Saskatchewan College of Paramedics
- College of Paramedics of Manitoba

If you meet the eligibility requirements, proceed with the COPR EMR examination application.

*Note: If your EMR training program ends after the examination application deadline of June 30, 2021 you may still apply. However, you must complete your training and submit proof of completion by the August 4, 2021 deadline.
