

COPR 2022 Photo Contest: Announcing the Winners!

Thank you for taking the time to enter your photographs in the Canadian Organization of Paramedic Regulators (COPR) first annual photo contest. The Selection Committee was blown away by the entries we received from across Canada.

You showed us examples of innovation, training and safety. Other photos captured paramedics displaying professionalism and community spirit. One submission showed the personal connection between team members in the fleeting moments between calls and the significant impact of checking in with one another. Still other photos showed us the conditions in which paramedics put themselves to keep people safe while others showed the magnificence of our country's Northern Lights.

With such a wide array of photos, it made choosing finalists extremely difficult. We are grateful that so many individuals took the time to participate!

RUNNERS UP:

Paramedic and Photographer: Joseph Hale. Dawson Creek, British Columbia

Photographer: Gil Maraboto, Saskatchewan

Thank you to everyone who submitted photos; you helped make this photo contest a success. All entries will be shared on COPR's social media channels throughout the year.
